Non-appearance
of complainant.
[11 of 1961].

59. If, when the case is called, the defendant appears voluntarily in obedience to the summons, or is brought before the Court under a warrant, and the complainant, having had due notice of the time and place of hearing (which shall be proved to the satisfaction of the Court), does not appear in person or in the manner provided in section 58 or by Attorney-at-law and, in the case of a police complainant, by any police officer, the Court shall dismiss the complaint, unless the Court, having received a reasonable excuse for the non-appearance of the complainant, or for other sufficient reason, thinks fit to adjourn the hearing of the case to some future day, upon such terms as the Court may think just.

of defendant.

60. (1) If, when the case is called, the defendant does not appear, the Court may, if the case comes within the provisions of section 44, proceed as therein directed, or may, if it thinks fit, allow the defendant to appear by Attorney-at-law.

(2) If service of the summons is not proved to the satisfaction of the Court, or if a warrant is issued for the apprehension of the defendant, the Court may adjourn the hearing of the case to some future day, in order that proper service may be effected, or until the defendant is apprehended, as the case may be.

(3) If the defendant is afterwards apprehended on a warrant as mentioned above, he shall be brought before the Magistrate or Justice, who shall thereupon commit him by warrant to prison or to such other safe custody as he may think fit, and order him to be brought at a certain time and place before the Court; and of such time and place the complainant shall, by direction of the Magistrate or Justice, be served with due notice.

Non-appearance
of both parties.

61. (1) If, when the case is called, neither the complainant nor the defendant appears, the Court shall make such order as the justice of the case requires.

(2) In such order the Court may include such direction as to payment of costs as to the Court shall seem fit, and the payment of such costs may be enforced in the manner and subject to the conditions set forth in section 77(6).

Manner of hearing.
[18 of 1957].

(2) If the defendant says that he is guilty, and shows no cause, or no sufficient cause, why an order should not be made against him, the Court shall make such order against him as the justice of the case requires.

(3) If the defendant says that he is not guilty, the witnesses on both sides shall, unless the Court in any instance otherwise expressly orders, be called, and placed out of the Court and out of hearing, under the charge of the proper officer of the Court or of some other person appointed by the Court for that purpose.

(4) The Court shall then proceed to hear the complainant and such witnesses as he may examine, and such other evidence as he may adduce, in support of his complaint, and also to hear the defendant and such witnesses as he may examine, and such other evidence as he may adduce, in his defence, and also, if the Court thinks fit, to hear such witnesses as the complainant may examine in reply, if the defendant has examined any witnesses or given any evidence. The complainant shall not be obliged to give evidence in support of his complaint, but if he wishes to give evidence he may do so at any time before his case is closed.

(5) The Magistrate or Justice shall, in every case, take or cause to be taken by a competent clerk, notes in writing of the evidence, or of so much of it as he considers material, in a book to be kept for that purpose, and such book shall be signed by the Magistrate or Justice at the conclusion of each day's proceeding.

78. (1) The Court by whose conviction or order any sum of money is adjudged to be paid may direct that no time shall be allowed for the payment of the said sum and issue forthwith a warrant committing to prison the person liable to pay the said sum, or the Court may instead do all or any of the following things:

- (a) allow time for payment of the said sum;
- (b) direct payment of the said sum to be made by instalments;
- (c) direct that the person liable to pay the said sum shall be at liberty to give, to the satisfaction of the Court, security, either with or without a surety or sureties, for the payment of the said sum or of any instalment thereof.

(2) If before the expiration of the time allowed the person convicted surrenders himself to the Court having jurisdiction to issue a warrant of commitment in respect of the non-payment of such sum as mentioned above, and states that he prefers immediate committal to awaiting the expiration of the time allowed, the Court may if it thinks fit forthwith issue a warrant committing him to prison.

(3) Where a person so allowed time for payment as mentioned above appears to the Court to be not less than sixteen nor more than twenty-one years of age, the Court may, if it thinks fit, and subject to any rules made under this Act, order that he be placed under the supervision of such person as may be appointed by the Court until the sum adjudged to be paid is paid, and in such case, before issuing a warrant in respect of non-payment of the sum, the Court shall consider any report which may be made by the person so appointed as to the conduct and means of the person under his supervision.

(4) Where a sum of money is directed to be paid by instalments and default is made in the payment of any one instalment, the same proceedings may be taken as if default had been made in the payment of all the instalments then remaining unpaid.

79. Where time has been allowed for the payment of a sum adjudged to be paid by a conviction or order, further time may, subject to any rules made under this Act, on an application by or on behalf of the person liable to pay such sum, be allowed by a Court having jurisdiction to issue a warrant of commitment in respect of the non-payment of such sum as mentioned above, or such Court may, subject as mentioned above, direct payment by instalments of the sum so adjudged to be paid.

Allowance of further time and payment by instalments.

80. Where a person has been adjudged to pay a sum by a conviction or order of a Summary Court, or in proceedings for enforcing an order in any matter of affiliation, or an order which under weekly sums are made payable towards the maintenance of a wife, the Court may order him to be searched, and any money found on him on apprehension, or when so searched, or which may be found on him when taken to prison in default of payment of the sum so adjudged to be paid, may, unless the Court otherwise directs, be applied towards the payment of the sum so adjudged to be paid, and the surplus, if any, shall be returned to him. However, the money shall not be so applied if the Court is satisfied that the money does not belong to the person on whom it was found, or that the loss of the money will be more injurious to his family than his imprisonment.

Provisions for enforcement of payment of fines, etc.

81. (1) A person shall give security under this Act, whether as principal or surety, either by the deposit of money with the Clerk or by an oral or written acknowledgment of the undertaking or condition by which and of the sum for which he is bound in the Form set out as Form 28B in the Third Schedule, and evidence of such security may be provided by entry thereof in the record of proceedings of the Court or otherwise as may be prescribed.

Provisions as to security taken for payment of fine, etc. Nature and form of security. Third Schedule. Form 28B.

(2) The Clerk of each Court shall keep a security book, and shall enter in it, with respect to each security given in relation to any proceeding before the Court, the name and address of each person bound, showing whether he is bound as principal or as surety, the sum in which each person is bound, the undertaking or condition by which he is bound, the date of the security, and the person before whom it is taken. When any such security is not entered into before the Court, or before the Clerk, the person before whom it is entered into shall make a return of it, showing

Ch. 4:21.

(3) Any sum which may become due in pursuance of a security under this Act from a surety may be recovered summarily, in the Petty Civil Court of the district in which the security was given in manner directed by the Petty Civil Courts Act, at the suit of a constable or of the Clerk of the Court directing such security to be given, leave having first been obtained from the Judge of the Petty Civil Court.

Sum paid by surety to be a civil debt due to the principal.

(4) Any sum paid by a surety on behalf of his principal in respect of a security under this Act, together with all costs, charges and expenses incurred by such surety in respect of that security, shall be deemed a civil debt due to him from the principal, and may be recovered by the surety in a Petty Civil Court in manner directed by the Petty Civil Courts Act.

Application of sum due under forfeited security.

(5) When a Petty Civil Court has enforced payment of any sum due by a surety in pursuance of a security which appears to the Court to be forfeited, the sum shall be paid to the Clerk, and shall be paid and applied by him in the manner in which fines, costs or compensation, imposed by the Court, in respect of which no special appropriation is made, are payable and applicable.

Application of money deposit.

(6) Where security is given by the deposit of money under subsection (1) and the principal makes default in payment of the money in respect of which such deposit was made, the sum deposited, or so much of it as is required, shall be applied by the Clerk in the manner provided by subsection (5).

Liability of principal to be imprisoned.

(7) Notwithstanding any action or process against the surety for the recovery of the sum due in pursuance of a security and until complete satisfaction of such sum by the principal or the surety, the principal shall be liable to be imprisoned for the term for which he would be liable had no security been given.

Discharge of surety.

(8) When the principal has served the term of imprisonment for which he was liable in default of payment of the sum in respect of which security was given or any part of such sum, the surety shall then be freed from liability for the payment of such sum or any part of it remaining unpaid, but he shall remain liable for any costs incurred by the State in any action or process instituted against him for enforcing such security.

WARRANT OF DISTRESS

82. (1) Any sum of money adjudged to be paid by an order shall, if the written law on which the order is founded so directs, but subject to the following provisions of this section, and may, in the discretion of the Court in other cases, be levied upon the movable property of the defendant by distress and sale of such property.

(3) Where a warrant of distress is issued by the Court, it shall authorise the person charged with the execution thereof to take any money as well as any goods of the person against whom the distress is levied, and any money so taken shall be treated as if it were the proceeds of sale of goods taken under the warrant.

(4) If it appears to the Court, at the time such sum of money is adjudged to be paid or when application is made to it to issue any such warrant, that the defendant has no money or movable property whereon to levy the distress, or that, in the event of a warrant of distress being issued, his money or movable property will be insufficient to satisfy the sum of money adjudged to be paid by the order, or that the levy of the distress will be more injurious to him or his family than imprisonment, the Court may, if it thinks fit, instead of issuing such warrant of distress, order the defendant, on non-payment of the said sum, to be imprisoned for any term not exceeding the term prescribed in respect of a like sum in the scale of imprisonment set out in section 68.

(5) The wearing apparel and bedding of a person and his family, and, to the value of two hundred dollars, the tools and implements of his trade, shall not be taken under a warrant of distress issued by the Court.

84. Where a warrant of distress is issued against the defendant, and a return is made by the constable charged with the execution of the warrant to the effect that no sufficient money or movable property of the defendant can be found whereon to levy the distress, the Court may order the defendant, on non-payment of the sum of money adjudged to be paid by the order and all costs and charges of the distress and of the commitment, to be imprisoned for any term not exceeding the term prescribed in respect of a like sum in the scale of imprisonment set out in section 68.

- (c) except so far as the person upon whose movable property the distress is levied otherwise consents in writing, the distress shall be sold at public auction, and three days at least shall intervene between the making of the distress and the sale; but where consent in writing is so given as mentioned above the sale may be in accordance with such consent;
- (d) subject as mentioned above, the distress shall be sold within the time fixed by the warrant, and if no time is so fixed, then within the period of fourteen days from the date of the making of the distress, unless the sum for which the warrant was issued, and also the charges of taking and keeping the distress, are sooner paid;

- (e) if any person charged with the execution of a warrant of distress wilfully retains from the produce of any property sold to satisfy the distress, or otherwise exacts, any greater costs or charges than those to which he is for the time being entitled by law, or makes any improper charge, he is liable, on summary conviction, to a fine of four hundred dollars but nothing herein contained shall affect the liability of any such person to be prosecuted and punished for extortion;
- (f) a written account of the costs and charges incurred in respect of the execution of any warrant of distress shall, as soon as practicable, be delivered by the constable charged with the execution of the warrant to the Magistrate or Justice; and the person upon whose movable property the distress was levied may, at any time within one month after the making of the distress, inspect such account, without payment of any fee or reward, at any time during office hours, and take a copy of such account;
- (g) a constable charged with the execution of a warrant of distress shall sell the distress or cause the same to be sold, and may deduct out of the amount realised by such sale all costs and charges actually incurred in effecting such sale, and shall pay to the Magistrate or Justice, or to some person specified by him, the remainder of such amount, in order that the same may be applied in payment of the sum for which the warrant was issued and of the proper costs and charges of the execution of the warrant, and that the surplus, if any, may be rendered to the person upon whose movable property the distress was levied.

(2) When any person against whom a warrant of distress is issued pays or tenders to the constable having the execution of the same the sum or sums in such warrant mentioned, or produces to him the receipt for the same of the Clerk of the Court, and also pays the amount of the costs and charges of such distress up to the time of such payment or tender, the constable shall cease to execute the warrant.

Form 22.

86. (1) In every case where an order is made against any person for the payment of a sum of money, and such person is liable to be imprisoned, or imprisoned and kept to hard labour, for a certain term unless such sum shall be sooner paid, if such person does not pay the same, either forthwith or at the time specified in such order for the payment of the same, as the case may be, the Court may issue its warrant of commitment, under the hand of the Magistrate or Justice, requiring any constable to take and convey such person to prison, and there deliver him to the Keeper, and requiring the Keeper to receive such person into the prison, and there to imprison him and keep him to hard labour, as the case may be, for such time as may be directed and appointed by the warrant of commitment, unless the sum of money adjudged to be paid by the order, and also all other costs, charges, and expenses, shall be sooner paid. Any warrant of commitment issued under this section may be executed on a Sunday.

(2) Any such warrant of commitment may be signed either by the Magistrate or Justice who made the order or by any Magistrate or Justice who has concurrent jurisdiction with or has succeeded to or is acting for the Magistrate or Justice who made the order.

Power to postpone issue of warrant of commitment.

87. (1) Where application is made to the Court to issue a warrant for committing a person to prison for non-payment of any sum of money adjudged to be paid by an order, the Court may, if it thinks it expedient to do so, postpone the issue of the warrant until such time and on such conditions as may seem just.

(2) When the Court orders the imprisonment of any person, the Court may, if it thinks fit, order that such imprisonment shall not commence immediately, but shall commence on a day not more than three months after the date of such order as the Court may fix, and in such case the Court may either allow the person to go at large until that day or discharge him upon his entering into a recognisance, with or without sureties, conditioned for his reappearance on that day to undergo such imprisonment.

88. (1) Where any person against whom is issued a warrant of commitment for non-payment of any sum of money adjudged to be paid by an order is arrested within the magisterial district in which the order was made by the constable having the execution of the warrant and such person offers to pay forthwith the sum or sums in such warrant mentioned, together with the amount of the expenses of such warrant up to the time of payment, such person shall be conveyed to the office of the Clerk of the Court of the district as soon as convenient after his arrest, but not later than forty-eight hours after the arrest, and upon payment of such sum or sums and expenses to the Clerk of the Court such person shall be immediately released from custody.

Payment of penalty to Clerk

(2) If the office of the Clerk of the Court will not be opened for public business within the said period of forty-eight hours from the arrest, or if the person arrested fails to pay all sums and expenses to the Clerk of the Court as provided for in this section, he shall be conveyed to prison as directed by the warrant.

(3) When the arrest is effected outside the magisterial district in which the order was made, the person arrested shall be conveyed as soon as convenient thereafter to prison as directed by the warrant.

89. Where any person is brought by a constable to any prison to be imprisoned by virtue of a warrant of commitment, the constable shall endorse on the warrant the day on which the person was arrested by virtue of that warrant; and the imprisonment shall be computed from that day and inclusive of it.

90. Where any person has been committed to prison by the Court for default in finding a surety or sureties, the Court may, on application made to it by the person or by some person acting on his behalf, enquire into the case, and if, upon new evidence produced to the Court or proof of a change of circumstances, the Court thinks, having regard to all the circumstances of the case, that it is just to do so, the Court may reduce the amount for which it was ordered that the surety or sureties shall be bound, or dispense with the surety or sureties, or otherwise deal with the case as the Court may think just.

released on

91. (1) Where any person has been committed to prison by the Court for non-payment of any sum of money adjudged to be paid by an order, such person may pay or cause to be paid to the Keeper the sum mentioned in the warrant of commitment, together with the amount of the costs, charges, and expenses, if any, also mentioned therein, and the Keeper shall receive the same and thereupon discharge such person, unless he is in his custody for some other matter.

(2) Where a term of imprisonment is imposed by the Court for non-payment of any sum adjudged to be paid by an order, that term shall, on payment of a part of such sum to the Court or to the Keeper, be reduced by a number of days bearing as nearly as possible the same proportion to the total number of days in the term as the sum paid bears to the sum adjudged to be paid.

(3) In any case where, under subsection (2), a sum has been received in part satisfaction of a sum due from a prisoner in consequence of the conviction of the Court, such sum shall be applied, firstly, towards the payment in full or in part of any costs or damages or compensation which the Court may have ordered to be paid to the complainant and, secondly, towards the payment of the fine, if any, imposed on the prisoner.

92. Where the defendant, having been convicted of the offence with which he was charged, has paid the sum of money adjudged to be paid by the order, or has been discharged therefrom by the President, or has undergone imprisonment for non-payment thereof or imprisonment adjudged in the first instance, or both, or has been discharged from his conviction in manner aforesaid, he shall be released from all other criminal proceedings for the same matter. Nothing in this section shall affect the further liability of any person in respect of any continuing or recurring offence.

93. (1) Where a power is by any written law given to the Court of requiring any person to do or to abstain from doing any act or thing, other than the payment of money or of requiring any act or thing to be done or left undone, other than the payment of money, and no mode is prescribed of enforcing such requisition, the Court may exercise such power by an order, and may annex to the order any condition as to time or mode of action or otherwise which the Court may think just; and the Court may suspend or rescind the order on such undertaking being given, or such condition being performed, as the Court may think just, and generally may make such arrangements for carrying into effect the power as the Court may think fit.

PART VI

SUMMARY TRIAL OF INDICTABLE OFFENCES

Power to reduce charge from indictable to summary offence.
[172/1961
8/1962
136/1976].

94. (1) Where, upon the holding of any preliminary enquiry on a charge of an indictable offence, the Magistrate is of opinion that the evidence establishes, or appears likely to establish, the commission of a summary offence of a like kind to the offence charged, the Magistrate may, if he thinks fit, and unless the Director of Public Prosecutions otherwise directs, inform the accused person accordingly, and all further proceedings in the case thereafter shall be the same as if a complaint had been made against such person for such latter offence.

Power to remand person charged.

(2) The Magistrate, without prejudice to any other power which he may possess, may, for the purpose of ascertaining whether it is expedient to deal with a case summarily, either before or during the hearing of the case, adjourn the case and remand the person charged.

(3) A person may be remanded under this section in like manner in all respects as a person accused of an indictable offence may be remanded.

Director of Public Prosecutions may require case to be adjourned or dealt with specially.
[172/1961
8/1962
136/1976].

95. Where any charge of an indictable offence is being proceeded with summarily under this Act, the Director of Public Prosecutions may at any time before the decision of the case, by order in writing under his hand, require the Magistrate to adjourn the case or to deal with it as one for trial on indictment, and on receipt of such requisition the Magistrate shall deal with the case accordingly.

Magistrate to adjourn case on request of prosecutor.
[172/1961
8/1962
136/1976].

96. A Magistrate shall at any time before the decision of the case at the request of any person in charge of any prosecution, adjourn the hearing of any charge involving an indictable offence punishable on summary conviction, in order that the Director of Public Prosecutions may be consulted with a view to obtaining an order as mentioned in section 95 to have the case dealt with as one for trial on indictment.

97. Where an indictable offence is, under the circumstances mentioned in this Act, authorised to be dealt with summarily —

General provisions as to dealing summarily with indictable offences.

- (a) the procedure shall, until the Court assumes the power to deal with the offence summarily, be the same in all respects as if the offence were to be dealt with throughout as an indictable offence, but when and so soon as the Court assumes the power to deal with such offence summarily, the procedure shall be the same, from and after that period, as if the offence were a summary offence and not an indictable offence, and the provisions of this Act shall apply accordingly; but nothing herein contained shall be construed to prevent the Court from dealing thereafter with the offence as an indictable offence, if it thinks fit to do so;
- (b) the evidence of any witness taken before the Court assumed the power to deal with the offence summarily need not be taken again, but every such witness shall, if the defendant so requires it, be recalled for the purpose of cross-examination;
- (c) the conviction for any such offence shall be of the same effect as a conviction on a trial on indictment for the offence;
- (d) the conviction shall contain a statement as to the plea of guilty of an adult, but it shall not be necessary to the validity or regularity of any conviction or committal in respect of an indictable offence under this Act that the same should contain any averment or statement, of the consent of the person charged or his guardian to any offence being dealt with summarily by the Court. However, in every case in which the Court so deals summarily with an offence by consent of the person charged, a note of such consent having been given, and of the person by whom it has been given, shall be taken by the Magistrate or his Clerk.

Issue of order of dismissal on summary trial of indictable offence.

98. Where the Court being authorised to deal summarily with an indictable offence has assumed such power, and dismisses the complaint on the merits, it shall, if required, deliver to the person charged, a copy, certified under the hand of the Magistrate, of the order of dismissal, and such dismissal shall be of the same effect as an acquittal on a trial on indictment for the offence. This, however, shall not prejudice the complainant's right of appeal under Part VIII.

Procedure for summary trial of younger child or older child charged with an offence.
Third Schedule.
Form 38.
Form 39.
Form 40.
[15 of 2018].

99. (1) Where a younger child or older child is brought before a Court for any offence the Court shall as soon as possible explain to him in simple language the substance of the alleged offence.

(2) Where a younger child is charged before a Court for any offence other than murder or manslaughter the case shall be dealt with summarily and it shall not be necessary to ask the parent or guardian of the younger child if he consents to the younger child being dealt with summarily.

(3) Where an older child is charged before a Court with an indictable offence other than murder or manslaughter and the Court becomes satisfied at any time during the hearing of the case that it is expedient to deal with it summarily, the Court shall put to the older child the following or a similar question, telling him that he may consult his parent or guardian before replying — "Do you wish to be tried by this Court or by a jury"? and the Court shall explain to the older child and to his parent or guardian the meaning of being so tried and the place where the trial would be held.

(4) After explaining the substance of the alleged offence the Court shall ask the younger child or the older child (except in cases where the older child does not consent to be tried summarily) whether he admits the offence.

(5) If the younger child or older child does not admit the offence the Court shall then hear the evidence of the witnesses in support of the charge. At the close of the evidence in chief of each such witness the younger child or older child shall be asked if he wishes to put any questions to the witness.

If the younger child or older child instead of asking questions wishes to make a statement he shall be allowed to do so.

The Court shall put to the witnesses such questions as appear to be necessary. The Court may put to the younger child or older child such questions as may be necessary to explain anything in the statement of the younger child or older child.

(6) If it appears to the Court that a prima facie case is made out, the evidence of any witnesses for the defence shall be heard and the younger child or older child shall be allowed to give evidence or to make any statement.

(7) If the younger child or older child admits the offence or the Court is satisfied that it is proved, he shall then be asked if he desires to say anything in extenuation or mitigation of the penalty or otherwise. Before deciding how to deal with him the Court shall obtain such information as to his general conduct, home surroundings, school record, and medical history, as may enable it to deal with the case in the best interests of the younger child or older child, and may put to him any question arising out of such information. For the purpose of obtaining such information or for special medical examination or observation the Court may, from time to time, remand the younger child or older child on bail or to a place of detention provided under section 54 of the Children Act.

Ch. 46:01.

(8) If the younger child or older child admits the offence or the Court is satisfied that it is proved, and the Court decides that a remand is necessary for purposes of enquiry or observation, the Court may cause an entry to be made in the Court Register that the charge is proved and that the younger child or older child has been remanded. The Court before which a younger child or older child so remanded is brought may, without further proof of the commission of the offence, make any order in respect of the younger child or older child which could have been made by the Court which so remanded the younger child or older child.

100. (1) The following provisions of this section shall have effect where an adult appears or is brought before a Court on a complaint charging him with any of the indictable offences specified in the Second Schedule.

(2) If at any time during the preliminary enquiry into the offence it appears to the Court, having regard to any representations made in the presence of the accused by or on behalf of the prosecutor or made by the accused, and to the nature of the case, that the punishment that the Court has power to inflict under this section would be adequate and that the circumstances do not make the offence one of serious character and do not for other reasons require trial on indictment, the Court may proceed with a view to summary trial.

(3) For the purpose of proceeding as aforesaid, the Court shall cause the charge to be written down, if this has not already been done, and read to the accused, and shall inform him that he may, if he consents, be tried summarily instead of being tried by a jury or by a Judge alone and explain what is meant by being tried summarily.

(4) After informing the accused as provided by subsection (3), the Court shall ask him whether he wishes to be tried by a jury or by a Judge alone or consents to be tried summarily, and, if he consents, shall proceed to the summary trial of the complaint.

(5) A person summarily convicted of an indictable offence under this section is liable to a fine of twenty thousand dollars or imprisonment for five years; but such person shall not be liable to any greater penalty than the maximum penalty to which he would be liable if he had been convicted on indictment.

(5A) Subsection (5) shall not apply in relation to the penalty for the offence of kidnapping.

(6) Nothing in this section shall be construed as affecting the powers of the Director of Public Prosecutions under section 95 or the obligation of the Court to adjourn under section 96.

(7) Where any person is convicted under this section of an offence of inciting to commit a summary conviction offence, he shall not be liable to any greater penalty than he would be liable to on being summarily convicted of the last-mentioned offence.

(8) Where a person is convicted under this section of attempting or inciting to commit an offence that is both an indictable offence and a summary offence, he shall not be liable to any greater penalty than he would be liable to if he had been originally charged summarily with the completed offence.

(9) In this section the expression “adult” means a person who is, in the opinion of the Court before which he is tried, of the age of eighteen years or upwards.

(2) The appellant shall in such case be detained in custody and may be taken without any fresh order or warrant in custody of a constable to the Court of Appeal to attend the hearing of the appeal.

(3) Notwithstanding anything contained in this section, an appellant may, at any time before his appeal is heard, enter into a recognisance in the form and subject to the conditions set out in section 134, and thereupon he shall be liberated unless he is in custody in respect of any other charge or matter.

137. (1) The Clerk shall, in the prescribed manner, transmit to or cause to be served upon the respondent or his Attorney-at-law a copy certified under his hand of the notice of appeal, and of the reasons for appeal.

6 of 2004].

138. (1) An appellant may serve written notice upon the Registrar that he abandons his appeal, and thereupon section 150(2) shall apply.

(2) The Registrar shall give notice to the Clerk, the Clerk of Appeals and to the respondent of the abandonment of the appeal.

HEARING AND JUDGMENT

Where appellant
makes default in prosecuting appeal.

139. (1) Where the appellant makes default in duly prosecuting his appeal, the Magistrate or Justice shall thereupon treat the recognisance as forfeited and deal with the same in accordance with this Act.

(2) Where the appellant making such default has been released from custody under section 135, and remains or becomes liable to be kept in custody, the Magistrate or Justice shall forthwith issue a warrant for his apprehension, in order that he may be returned to prison accordingly.

Where appellant

140. (1) Where, on the day of hearing or at any adjournment of the case, the appellant does not appear, the case shall be struck out and the decision shall be affirmed, unless the Court of Appeal thinks fit, for sufficient cause, to order otherwise.

(2) Where the respondent appears, the judgment shall be with costs of the appeal against the appellant, unless the Court of Appeal expressly orders otherwise; but if the respondent does not appear, the costs of the appeal shall be in the discretion of the Court.

appears.

141. (1) Where, on the day of hearing and at every adjournment of the case, the appellant appears, the Court of Appeal shall, whether the respondent appears or not, proceed to the hearing or further hearing and the determination of the case, and shall give judgment according to the very right of the case without regarding any imperfection or defect of form.

(2) Where it appears or is proved to the Court that the appellant has not complied with the requirements contained above with respect to the giving of notice of appeal, the Court shall dismiss the appeal and affirm the decision, with or without costs of appeal against the appellant. The Court may, however, in its discretion, extend the time for service of notice of reasons for appeal upon such conditions as it may think fit.

142. On the hearing, it shall not be competent for the appellant to go into, or to give evidence of, any other reasons for appeal than those set forth in his notice of reasons for appeal. However, where in the opinion of the Court, other reasons for appeal than those set forth in the notice of reasons for appeal should have been given, or the statement of reasons is defective, the Court, in its discretion, may allow such amendments of the notice of reasons for appeal upon such conditions as to service upon the respondent and as to costs as it may think fit.

Appeal limited to reasons given in notice.

143. (1) No objection on account of any defect in the form of setting out any reason for appeal shall be allowed, and no objection to the reception of evidence offered in support of any reason for appeal shall prevail, unless the Court of Appeal is of opinion that the ground of appeal is so imperfectly or incorrectly stated as to be insufficient to enable the respondent to enquire into the subject matter or to prepare for the hearing.

Objections to form of reasons for appeal.

(2) In any case where the Court is of opinion that any objection to any reason for appeal or to the reception of evidence in support of any reason for appeal ought to prevail, the Court may, if it thinks fit, cause the reason for appeal forthwith to be amended by the Registrar upon such terms and conditions, if any, as the Court may think just.

144. If, on the hearing, it appears that there is any defect in form in the information or complaint, or any omission or mistake in the drawing up of the conviction or order, and if it is shown to the satisfaction of the Court of Appeal that there was sufficient evidence before the Magistrate or Justice making such conviction or order to have authorised the drawing up thereof free from such omission or mistake, the Court shall amend such information or complaint or such conviction or order and proceed as if no such defect, omission, or mistake had existed. Nothing in this section, however, shall affect the provisions of section 142.

Defects in
under appeal.

145. On any appeal from a decision of a Court of summary jurisdiction, no objection shall be taken or allowed to any proceeding in such Court for any defect or error which might have been amended by such Court, or to any complaint, summons, warrant, or other process to or of such Court for any alleged defect therein in substance or in form, or for any variance between any complaint or summons and the evidence adduced in support thereof in such Court. If any error, defect, or variance mentioned in this section appears to the Court of Appeal at the hearing of any appeal to be such that the appellant has been thereby deceived or misled, the Court of Appeal may either refer the case back to the Magistrate or Justice with directions to rehear and determine the same, or reverse the decision appealed from, or make such other order for disposing of the case as justice may require.

Defects in
notice of appeal
or recognisance.

146. No objection shall be taken or allowed, on any appeal, to any notice of appeal which is in writing or to any recognisance entered into under this Act, for the due prosecution of such appeal for any alleged error or defect therein. However, if any such error or defect appears to the Court of Appeal to be such that the respondent on such appeal has been thereby deceived or misled, the Court of Appeal may amend the same and, if it is expedient to do so, also adjourn the further hearing of the appeal, the amendment and the adjournment (if any) being made on such terms as the Court may think just.

Power to the Court to take evidence.

147. The Court of Appeal may, in any case where it may consider it necessary that evidence should be adduced, either—
(a) order such evidence to be adduced before the Court on some day to be fixed; or
(b) order such evidence to be given by affidavit; or

- (c) refer the case back to the Magistrate or Justice to take such evidence; and may in such case either direct the Magistrate or Justice to adjudicate afresh after taking such evidence and subject to such directions in law, if any, as the Court may think fit to give, or direct him, after taking such evidence, to report specific findings of fact for the information of the Court; and on any such reference the case shall, so far as may be practicable and necessary, be dealt with as if it were being heard in the first instance.

148. Every person who, being duly summoned to appear and give evidence upon any appeal, neglects or refuses without lawful excuse to appear at the time and place specified in the summons, or who, having appeared, refuses without lawful excuse to give evidence or to answer any question put to him by the Court of Appeal, shall be liable, on the order of the Court of Appeal, to a fine of one thousand dollars or to imprisonment for three months.

Neglecting or refusing to appear when summoned.

149. (1) On the conclusion of the hearing, the Court of Appeal shall, either at the same or any subsequent sitting, pronounce judgment on the appeal.

Giving of judgment.

- (2) In giving judgment the Court of Appeal may —

- (a) affirm, modify, amend, or reverse the decision, either in whole or in part, and, if the Court thinks that a different sentence should have been passed, quash the sentence passed by the Magistrate or Justice and pass such other sentence warranted in law (whether more or less severe) in substitution therefor as the Court thinks should have been passed;
- (b) if any omission or mistake is made in drawing up any order or judgment, and it is shown to the satisfaction of the Court that sufficient grounds were in proof before the Magistrate or Justice making the order or giving the judgment to have authorised the drawing up thereof free from such omission or mistake, amend such order or judgment and adjudicate thereupon as if no such omission or mistake had existed;

- (c) refer the case back to the Magistrate or Justice with directions to rehear it, or otherwise to deal with it as the Court may think just, and thereafter either to return the case to the Court for further hearing and determination, or to determine it, as the Court may think fit, or refer it back as mentioned in section 147; and in every such case the provisions of paragraph (c) of section 147 shall apply; or
- (d) make such other order for disposing of the case as justice may require.

(3) The Court of Appeal may, so far as may be necessary for doing complete justice between the parties, review any order made by the Magistrate or Justice.

Enforcing of Schedule.

Form 5.

150. (1) After the pronouncing of the judgment of the Court of Appeal, and subject to this section, the Magistrate or Justice from whom the appeal came shall have the same jurisdiction and power to enforce, and shall enforce, any decision which may have been affirmed, modified, amended, or substituted by the Court of Appeal, or any judgment which may have been pronounced by the Court, in the same manner in all respects as if such decision or judgment had been pronounced by himself. Where, however, an order for the imprisonment of any person is affirmed on appeal, whether with or without modification or amendment, or where the Court of Appeal orders the imprisonment of any person, the Court of Appeal may, if it considers it expedient to do so, forthwith commit such person to prison in pursuance and in execution of such order.

(2) The period of sentence of a person mentioned in subsection (1) shall, whether or not he has appealed his sentence, be counted —

- (a) if he is not actually in custody, from the day on which he is in actual custody in the prison in which he is ordered to be imprisoned; or

(b) if he is actually in custody, from the day on which he is in actual custody in the prison in which he was ordered to be imprisoned pursuant to the order of the Court, or from such day as the Court of Appeal may determine.

COSTS

151. If, on the hearing of an appeal, the Court of Appeal adjudges the appeal to have been frivolous and vexatious, the Attorney-at-law who has given notice of appeal shall be personally liable to pay the taxed costs of the respondent, and in such case, upon proof to the satisfaction of a Judge in Chambers that execution against the appellant and his sureties (if any) has not produced sufficient to realise the amount of the taxed costs, then the Judge shall, on summons to be served on the Attorney-at-law, make an order for the payment by the Attorney-at-law of the balance of the costs remaining unpaid.

Frivolous and vexatious appeals.

152. Subject to the express provisions of this Act, the Court of Appeal may make such order as to the costs of any case both in the Summary Court and in the Court of Appeal as it may think just.

General power of the Court as to costs.

153. Where an appeal is abandoned or withdrawn, the Court of Appeal may, on proof of notice of appeal having been given to the respondent, order that he shall receive such costs as the Court may think fit, notwithstanding that the appeal has not been entered or prosecuted.

Costs in abandonment or withdrawal of appeal.

154. Where any order as to costs is made by the Court of Appeal against either party to an appeal, such costs shall be payable to the Registrar, and shall be paid over by him to the party entitled, and, in the absence of any special direction of the Court to the contrary, such costs shall be payable forthwith.

Payment of costs.

155. If any such costs are not paid within the time limited by this Act or ordered by the Court of Appeal the Registrar shall, on the application of the party entitled to such costs or of any person duly authorised by him, grant to such party a certificate that such costs have not been paid. (6) The Director of Public Prosecutions may, by notice in writing under his hand, require a Magistrate or Justice to state a case on any point of law, and, on receipt of such notice, the Magistrate or Justice shall state such case accordingly.
