Equities of plaintiff.

(1) If a plaintiff or petitioner claims to be entitled to any equitable estate or right, or to relief upon any equitable ground against a deed, instrument or contract, or against a right, title or claim whatsoever asserted by a defendant or respondent in such cause or matter, or to any relief founded upon a legal right which before the commencement of the Judicature Ordinance (that is, 20th March 1880) could only have been given by a Court of Equity, the High Court shall give to the plaintiff or petitioner such relief as would be given by the High Court of Justice in England in a suit or proceeding for the same or a like purpose.

Ch. 3, No. 1. (1950 Ed.).

Equitable defences.

(2) If a defendant claims to be entitled to any equitable estate or right, or to relief upon any equitable ground against a deed, instrument or contract, or against a right, title or claim asserted by a plaintiff or petitioner or alleges any ground of equitable defence to any claim of the plaintiff or petitioner in such cause or matter, the Court or Judge shall give to each equitable defence so alleged such and the same effect by way of defence against the claim of the plaintiff or petitioner as the High Court of Justice in England would give if the same or like matters had been relied on by way of defence in a suit or proceeding instituted in that Court for the same or like purpose.

(3) The Court or Judge may grant to a defendant respecting an equitable estate or right or other matter of equity and also respecting a legal estate, right or title claimed or asserted by him, all such relief against a plaintiff or petitioner as the defendant has properly claimed by his pleading, and as might properly have been granted in any suit instituted for that purpose by the same defendant against the same plaintiff or petitioner, and also all such relief relating to or connected with the original subject of the cause or matter and in like manner claimed against any other person, whether already a party to the same cause or matter or not, who has been duly served with notice in writing of the claim pursuant to this Act or any Rules of Court or an Order of the High Court, as might properly have been granted against such person if he had been a defendant to a cause duly instituted by the same defendant for the like purpose. Every person served with any such notice as aforesaid shall thenceforth be deemed a party to the cause or matter with the same rights in respect of his defence against the claim as if he had been duly sued in the ordinary way by the defendant.

parties.

(4) The Court or Judge shall recognise and take notice of all equitable estates, titles and rights, and of all equitable duties and liabilities appearing incidentally in the course of any cause or matter, in the same manner in which the High Court of Justice in England would recognise and take notice of the same in a suit or proceeding duly instituted therein.

Equities
incidentally.

18. (1) No cause or proceeding at any time pending in the High Court or the Court of Appeal shall be restrained by prohibition or injunction but every matter of equity on which an injunction against the prosecution of any such cause or proceeding might formerly have been obtained whether unconditionally or on any terms or conditions, may be relied on by way of defence thereto.

Defence or stay
injunction or prohibition.

(2) Nothing in this section shall disable either the High Court or the Court of Appeal, if it thinks fit to do so, from directing a stay of proceedings in any cause or matter pending before it and any person, whether a party or not to any such cause or matter at any time pending in the Court—

- (a) who would have been entitled formerly to apply to a Court to restrain the prosecution thereof; or
- (b) who may be entitled to enforce by attachment or otherwise any judgment, decree, rule or order in contravention of which all or any part of the proceedings in the cause or matter have been taken, may apply to the High Court or the Court of Appeal, as the case may be, by motion in a summary way, for a stay of proceedings in the cause or matter, either generally or so far as might be necessary for the purposes of justice, and the High Court or the Court of Appeal shall thereupon make such order as shall be just.

Common law and statutory rights and duties.

19. Subject to the provisions of this Act for giving effect to equitable rights and other matters of equity, the High Court or the Court of Appeal and each Judge thereof shall recognise and give effect to—in the same manner as the same have hitherto been recognised and given effect to.

Determination of matter completely and finally.

20. The High Court and the Court of Appeal respectively in the exercise of the jurisdiction vested in them by this Act and the Constitution shall in every cause or matter pending before the Court grant, either absolutely or on such terms and conditions as to the Court seems just, all such remedies whatsoever as any of the parties thereto may appear to be entitled to in respect of any legal or equitable claim properly brought forward by him in the cause or matter, so that, as far as possible, all matters in controversy between the parties may be completely and finally determined, and all multiplicity of legal proceedings concerning any of those matters avoided.

21. In all matters in which there is any conflict, or variance between law and equity with reference to any matter, the rules of equity shall prevail.

Rules of equity to prevail.

Merger by operation of law.

Suit by mortgagor for rents and profits.

(4) Stipulations in contracts, as to time or otherwise, which are not deemed to be or to have become of the essence of the contracts in a Court of Equity shall receive in all Courts the same construction and effect as they would have received in equity.

(5) A mandamus or an injunction may be granted or a receiver appointed by an interlocutory order of the Court or Judge in all cases in which it appears to the Court or Judge to be just as Granting of mandamus, etc.

Granting of injunction in certain cases.

(6) If an injunction is asked, either before, or at, or after the hearing of a cause or matter, to prevent a threatened or apprehended waste or trespass, the injunction may be granted if the Court or Judge thinks fit—

(a) whether the person against whom the injunction is sought—

(i) is or is not in possession under a claim or title or otherwise; or

(ii) if out of possession, does or does not claim under any colour of title a right to do the act sought to be restrained; and

(b) whether the estates claimed by both or by either of the parties are legal or equitable.

Effect of absolute assignment of debt.

(7) Any absolute assignment, by writing under the hand of the assignor (not purporting to be by way of charge only), of any debt or other legal thing in action, of which express notice in writing has been given to the debtor, trustee, or other person from whom the assignor would have been entitled to receive or claim the debt or thing in action, shall be and be deemed to have been effectual in law (subject to all equities which would have been entitled to priority over the right of the assignee if this Act had not passed) to pass and transfer the legal right to the debt or thing in action from the date of the notice, and all legal and other remedies for the same, and the power to give a good discharge for the same, without the concurrence of the assignor; but if the debtor, trustee, or other person liable in respect of the debt or thing in action has had notice that the assignment is disputed by the assignor or anyone claiming under him, or of any other opposing or conflicting claims to the debt or thing in action, he shall be entitled, if he thinks fit, to call upon the several persons making claim thereto to interplead concerning the same.

24. Where any person neglects or refuses to comply with a judgment or order directing him to execute any conveyance, contract or other document, or to endorse any negotiable instrument, the High Court may on such terms and conditions, if any, as may be just, order that the conveyance, contract or other document shall be executed or that the negotiable instrument shall be endorsed by such person as the High Court may nominate for that purpose and a conveyance, contract, document or instrument so executed or endorsed shall operate and be for all purposes available as if it had been executed or endorsed by the person originally directed to execute or endorse it.

(b) by depositing such moneys in an interest bearing account in a financial institution as defined in the Financial Institutions Act, to the credit of an account in the name of the Registrar of the Supreme Court or in such name as a Judge or Master of the Court shall order, with the addition of the words “in trust” to the title of every such account.

Ch. 79:09.

24B. Moneys deposited in a financial institution may be deposited to any amount in any particular case and shall bear interest, and such interest shall be paid on any such deposits, irrespective of amount, as shall from time to time be paid to depositors in such institution.

Interest on moneys in financial institutions. [30 of 2005].

25. In any proceedings tried in any Court of record for recovery of any debt or damages, the Court may, if it thinks fit, order that there shall be included in the sum for which judgment is given interest at such rate as it thinks fit on the whole or any part of the debt or damages for the whole or any part of the period between the date when the cause of action arose and the date of the judgment, but nothing in this section—

- (a) shall authorise the giving of interest upon interest;
- (b) shall apply in relation to any debt upon which interest is payable as of right whether by virtue of any agreement or otherwise; or
- (c) shall affect the damages recoverable for the dishonour of a bill of exchange.

Interest on judgment debt. [46 of 2000].

25A. (1) Every judgment debt entered up carries interest at the rate of twelve per centum per annum from the time of entering up the judgment, until the same shall be satisfied and such interest may be levied under a writ of execution on such judgment.

(2) The Minister of Finance may, by Order subject to negative resolution of Parliament, vary the rate of interest prescribed in subsection (1).

Proceedings against, and contribution between, joint and several tortfeasors. [50 of 1976].

26. (1) Where damage is suffered by any person as a result of a tort, whether a crime or not—

- (a) judgment recovered against any tortfeasor liable in respect of that damage shall not be a bar to any action against any other person who would, if sued, have been liable as a joint tortfeasor in respect of the same damage;
- (b) if more than one action is brought in respect of that damage by or on behalf of the person by whom it was suffered, or for the benefit of the estate, or of the dependants of that person, against tortfeasors liable in respect of the damage, whether as joint tortfeasors or otherwise, the sums recoverable under the judgments given in those actions by way of damages shall not in the aggregate exceed the amount of the damages awarded by the judgment first given; and in any of those actions, other than that in which judgment is first given, the plaintiff shall not be entitled to costs unless the Court is of opinion that there was reasonable ground for bringing the action;

- (c) any tortfeasor liable in respect of that damage may recover contribution from any other tortfeasor who is, or would if sued have been, liable in respect of the same damage, whether as a joint tortfeasor or otherwise, so however, that no person shall be entitled to recover contribution under this section from any person entitled to be indemnified by him in respect of the liability in respect of which the contribution is sought.

(2) In any proceedings for contribution under this section the amount of the contribution recoverable from any person shall be such as may be found by the Court to be just and equitable having regard to the extent of that person's responsibility for the damage; and the Court shall have power to exempt any person from liability to make contribution, or to direct that the contribution to be recovered from any person shall amount to a complete indemnity.

(3) For the purposes of this section—

- (a) the expression “dependants” has the meaning assigned to it by section 2 of the Compensation for Injuries Act; Ch. 8:05.
- (b) the reference in this section to “the judgment first given” shall, in a case where that judgment is reversed in appeal, be construed as a reference to the judgment first given which is not so reversed, and, in a case where a judgment is varied on appeal, be construed as a reference to that judgment as so varied.

(4) Nothing in this section shall—

- (a) apply with respect to any tort committed before 24th December 1936;
- (b) affect any criminal proceedings against any person in respect of any wrongful act; or

- (c) render enforceable any agreement for indemnity which would not have been enforceable if this section had not been passed.

Effect of death on certain causes of action. [2 of 1972].

27. (1) Subject to the provisions of this section, on the death of any person after 24th December 1936, all causes of action subsisting against or vested in him shall survive against or, as the case may be, for the benefit of, his estate; but this subsection shall not apply to causes of action for defamation or seduction or for inducing one spouse to leave or remain apart from the other.

(2) Where a cause of action survives as aforesaid for the benefit of the estate of a deceased person, the damages recoverable for the benefit of the estate of that person—

- (a) shall not include any exemplary damages;
- (b) in the case of a breach of promise to marry shall be limited to such damage, if any, to the estate of that person as flows from the breach of promise to marry;
- (c) where the death of that person has been caused by the act or omission which gives rise to the cause of action, shall be calculated without reference to any loss or gain to his estate consequent on his death, except that a sum in respect of funeral expenses may be included.

(3) No proceedings shall be maintainable in respect of a cause of action in tort which by virtue of this section has survived against the estate of a deceased person, unless either—

- (a) proceedings against him in respect of that cause of action were pending at the date of his death; or
- (b) the cause of action arose not earlier than six months before his death and proceedings are taken in respect thereof not later than six months after his personal representative took out representation.

(4) Where damage has been suffered by reason of any act or omission in respect of which a cause of action would have subsisted against any person if that person had not died before or at the same time as the damage was suffered, there shall be deemed, for the purposes of this section, to have been subsisting against him before his death such cause of action in respect of that act or omission as would have subsisted if he had died after the damage was suffered.

(5) The rights conferred by this section for the benefit of the estates of deceased persons shall be in addition to and not in derogation of any rights conferred on the dependants of deceased persons by the Compensation for Injuries Act, and so much of this section as relates to causes of action against the estates of deceased persons shall apply in relation to causes of action under the said Act as it applies in relation to other causes of action not expressly excepted from the operation of subsection (1). Ch. 8:05.

(6) In the event of the insolvency of an estate against which proceedings are maintainable by virtue of this section, any liability in respect of the cause of action in respect of which the proceedings are maintainable shall be deemed to be a debt provable in the administration of the estate, notwithstanding that it is a demand in the nature of unliquidated damages arising otherwise than by a contract, promise or breach of trust.

28. (1) Where any person suffers damage as the result partly of his own fault and partly of the fault of any other person or persons, a claim in respect of that damage shall not be defeated by reason of the fault of the person suffering the damage, but the damages recoverable in respect thereof shall be reduced to such extent as the Court thinks just and equitable having regard to the claimant's share in the responsibility for the damage. However, this subsection shall not operate to defeat any defence arising under a contract; and where any contract or written law providing for the limitation of liability is applicable to the claim, the amount of damages recoverable by the claimant by virtue of this subsection shall not exceed the maximum limit so applicable. Apportionment of liability in cases of contributory negligence. [6 of 1976].

(2) Where damages are recoverable by any person by virtue of subsection (1), subject to such reduction as is therein mentioned, the Court shall find and record the total damages which would have been recoverable if the claimant had not been at fault.

(3) Section 26 shall apply in any case where two or more persons are liable or would, if they had all been sued, be liable by virtue of subsection (1) in respect of the damage suffered by any person.

Ch. 8:05.

(4) Where any person dies as the result partly of his own fault and partly of the fault of any other person or persons, and accordingly if an action were brought for the benefit of the estate under section 26 the damages recoverable would be reduced under subsection (1), any damages recoverable in an action brought for the benefit of the dependants of that person under the Compensation for Injuries Act shall be reduced to a proportionate extent.

Ch. 5. No. 6.
(1950 Ed.).

(5) Where, in any case to which subsection (1) applies, one of the persons at fault avoids liability to any other such person or his personal representative by pleading the Limitation of Personal Actions Ordinance or any other written law limiting the time within which proceedings may be taken, he shall not be entitled to recover any damages or contributions from that other person or representative by virtue of the said subsection.

Geo. 5 c. 36.

(6) Article 21 of the Convention contained in the First Schedule to the Carriage by Air Act, 1932 of the United Kingdom as applied to Trinidad and Tobago which empowers a Court to exonerate wholly or partly a carrier who proves that the damage was caused by or contributed to by the negligence of the injured person, shall have effect subject to the provisions of this section.

Provisions as to workmen and employers.
Ch. 88:05.
[14 of 1964].

29. Where a workman or his personal representative or dependant has recovered compensation under the Workmen's Compensation Act in respect of an injury caused under circumstances which would give a right to recover reduced damages in respect thereof by virtue of section 28 from some person other than the employer, hereinafter referred to as "the third party", any right conferred by section 15 of the Workmen's Compensation Act on the person by whom the compensation was paid or on any person called on to pay an indemnity under section 14 of that Act to be indemnified by the third party shall be limited to a right to be indemnified in respect of such part only of the sum paid or payable by the said person as bears to the total sum so paid or payable the same proportion as the said reduced damages bear to the total damages which would have been recoverable if the workman had not been at fault.

30. (1) It is not a defence, to an employer who is sued in respect of personal injuries caused by the negligence of a person employed by him, that that person was, at the time the injuries were caused, in common employment with the person injured.

(2) Any provision contained in a contract of service or apprenticeship or in an agreement collateral thereto [including a contract or agreement entered into before this section comes into operation (that is, 31st March 1977)] is void in so far as it would have the effect of excluding or limiting any liability of the employer in respect of personal injuries to the person employed or apprenticed by the negligence of persons in common employment with him.

(3) In this section “personal injuries” means any disease and any impairment of a person’s physical or mental condition, and the expression “injured” shall be construed accordingly.

31. Sections 28 and 29 shall not apply to any claim to which section 1 of the Maritime Conventions Act, 1911 of the United Kingdom applies and that Act shall have effect as if those sections were not in force.

VEXATIOUS ACTIONS

Restrictions on institution of vexatious actions.

34. (1) If, on an application made by the Attorney General under this section to the High Court, the High Court is satisfied that any person has habitually and persistently and without reasonable ground instituted vexatious legal proceedings, whether in the Court of Appeal, the High Court, or in an inferior Court, and whether against the same person or against different persons, the High Court may, after hearing that person or giving him an opportunity of being heard, order that no legal proceedings shall without leave of the High Court or a Judge thereof be instituted by him in any Court and such leave shall not be given unless the High Court is satisfied that the proceedings are not an abuse of the process of the Court and that there is prima facie ground for the proceedings.

(2) If the person against whom an order is sought under this section is unable on account of poverty to retain an Attorney-at-law, the High Court shall assign an Attorney-at-law to him.

(3) A copy of any order made under this section shall be published in the Gazette.

38. - (c) direct the Court from whose order the appeal is brought to enquire into and certify its finding on any question which the Court of Appeal thinks fit to be determined before final judgment in the appeal.

CRIMINAL APPEALS FROM HIGH COURT

Definitions. [14 of 1964].

42. In sections 42 to 65—

“appeal” means an appeal by a person convicted upon indictment and “appellant” means the person making such appeal;

“Minister” means the Minister designated under section 87(2) of the Constitution;

“sentence” includes any order of the Court made on conviction with reference to the person convicted or his wife or children and any recommendation of the convicting Court as to the making of a deportation order or of an expulsion order in the case of a person convicted, and the power of the Court of Appeal to pass a sentence includes a power to make any such order or recommendation as the convicting Court might have made and a recommendation so made by the Court of Appeal shall have the same effect for the purposes of any law under which such recommendation is permitted to be made, as the certificate and recommendation of the convicting Court.

43. A person convicted on indictment may appeal under this Act to the Court of Appeal— Right of appeal in criminal cases.

- (a) against his conviction on any ground of appeal which involves a question of law alone; and
- (b) with the leave of the Court of Appeal or upon the certificate of the Judge who tried him that it is a fit case for appeal against his conviction on any ground of appeal which involves a question of fact alone, or a question of mixed law and fact, or any other ground which appears to the Court to be a sufficient ground of appeal; and
- (c) with the leave of the Court of Appeal against the sentence passed on his conviction, unless the sentence is one fixed by law.

44. (1) The Court of Appeal on any such appeal against conviction shall allow the appeal if it thinks that the verdict of the jury should be set aside on the ground that it is unreasonable or cannot be supported having regard to the evidence, or that the judgment of the Court before whom the appellant was convicted should be set aside on the ground of a wrong decision on any question of law or that on any ground there was a miscarriage of justice, and in any other case shall dismiss the appeal; but the Court may, notwithstanding that they are of opinion that the point raised in the appeal might be decided in favour of the appellant, dismiss the appeal if they consider that no substantial miscarriage of justice has actually occurred. Determination of appeals in ordinary cases.

(2) Subject to the special provisions of this Act, the Court of Appeal shall, if it allows an appeal against conviction, either quash the conviction and direct a judgment and verdict of acquittal to be entered, or if the interests of justice so require, order a new trial.

(3) On an appeal against sentence the Court of Appeal shall, if it thinks that a different sentence should have been passed, quash the sentence passed at the trial, and pass such other sentence warranted in law by the verdict whether more or less severe, in substitution therefore as it thinks ought to have been passed, and in any other case shall dismiss the appeal.

Power of Court
in special cases.

45. (1) If it appears to the Court of Appeal that an appellant, though not properly convicted on some count or part of the indictment, has been properly convicted on some other count or part of the indictment, the Court of Appeal may either affirm the sentence passed on the appellant at the trial, or pass such sentence in substitution therefor as it thinks proper, and as may be warranted in law by the verdict on the count or part of the indictment on which the Court of Appeal considers that the appellant has been properly convicted.

(2) Where an appellant has been convicted of an offence and the jury could on the indictment have found him guilty of some other offence, and on the finding of the jury it appears to the Court of Appeal that the jury must have been satisfied of facts which proved him guilty of that other offence, the Court of Appeal may, instead of allowing or dismissing the appeal, substitute for the verdict found by the jury a verdict of guilty of that other offence, and pass such sentence in substitution for the sentence passed at the trial as may be warranted in law for that other offence, not being a sentence of greater severity.

(3) Where on the conviction of the appellant the jury have found a special verdict, and the Court of Appeal considers that a wrong conclusion has been arrived at by the Court before which the appellant has been convicted on the effect of that verdict, the Court of Appeal may, instead of allowing the appeal, order such conclusion to be recorded as appears to the Court of Appeal to be in law required by the verdict, and pass such sentence in substitution for the sentence passed at the trial as may be warranted in law.

(4) If on any appeal it appears to the Court of Appeal that, although the appellant was guilty of the act or omission charged against him, he was insane at the time the act was done or omission made so as not to be responsible according to law for his actions, the Court of Appeal may quash the sentence passed at the trial and order the appellant to be kept in custody as a person found guilty but insane under the Criminal Procedure Act in the same manner as if a special verdict had been found by the jury under that Act.

Ch. 12:02.

46. (1) The operation of any order for the restitution of any property to any person made on a conviction on indictment, and the operation in case of any such conviction, of the provisions of section 25(1) of the Sale of Goods Act, as to the re-vesting of the property in stolen goods on conviction, shall unless the Court before whom the conviction takes place direct to the contrary in any case in which, in their opinion, the title to the property is not in dispute, be suspended—

Re-vesting and restitution of property on conviction.

Ch. 82:30.

- (a) in any case until the expiration of fourteen days after the date of the conviction; and
- (b) in cases where notice of appeal or leave to appeal is given within fourteen days after the date of conviction, until the determination of the appeal, and in cases where the operation of any such order, or the operation of the said provisions, is suspended until the determination of the appeal, the order or provisions, as the case may be, shall not take effect as to the property in question if the conviction is quashed on appeal. Provisions may be made by Rules of Court for securing the safe custody of any property, pending the suspension of the operation of any such order or of the said provisions.

(2) The Court of Appeal may by order annul or vary any order made on a trial for the restitution of any property to any person, although the conviction is not quashed; and the order, if annulled, shall not take effect, and, if varied, shall take effect as so varied.

47. For the purposes of an appeal in any criminal cause or matter, the Court of Appeal may, if it thinks it necessary or expedient in the interest of justice—

Supplementary powers of Court of Appeal.

- (a) receive the evidence, if tendered, of any witness including the appellant, who is a competent but not compellable witness, and, if application is made for the purpose, of the husband or wife of the appellant in cases where the evidence of the husband or wife could not have been given at the trial except on the application;

- (b) issue any warrant necessary for enforcing any order or sentence of the Court of Appeal.

However,

- (i) in no case shall any sentence be increased by reason of or in consideration of any evidence that was not given at the trial; and
