

OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The Coin Ordinance, No. 18, reproduced the law relating to Coinage offences which was in force in England prior to the year 1861. In that year the English law on this subject was consolidated and simplified by the Coinage Offences Act, 1861 (24 & 25 Vic. c. 99).

The object of this Bill is, by means of a similar revision, to bring the local law on the subject into line with that now in force in England.

A comparison of the provisions of the Bill with the existing Ordinance will show that no material alteration is proposed in the substance of the law but the form of the various provisions is simplified and improved.

“ Bank note ” includes any note or bill of exchange of the Bank of England, or of any other person, body corporate, or company carrying on the business of banking in any part of the world, and includes “ bank bill,” “ bank post bill,” “ blank bank note,” “ blank bank bill of exchange,” and “ blank bank post bill”:

(2) References in this Ordinance to any Ordinance in force at the commencement of this Ordinance shall be held to include a reference to that Ordinance as amended, extended, or applied by any other Ordinance.

3.—(1) For the purposes of this Ordinance, forgery is the making of a false document in order that it may be used as genuine, and in the case of the seals and dies mentioned in this Ordinance, the counterfeiting of a seal or die, and forgery with intent to defraud or deceive, as the case may be, is punishable as in this Ordinance provided.

Definition of forgery.

(2) A document is false within the meaning of this Ordinance if the whole or any material part thereof purports to be made by or on behalf or on account of a person who did not make it nor authorize its making; or if, though made by or on behalf or on account of the person by whom or by whose authority it purports to have been made, the time or place of making, where either is material, or, in the case of a document identified by number or mark, the number or any distinguishing mark identifying the document, is falsely stated therein, and in particular a document is false :—

“ False

- (a) if any material alteration, whether by addition, insertion, obliteration, erasure, removal, or otherwise, has been made therein ;

- (b) if the whole or some material part of it purports to be made by or on behalf of a fictitious or deceased person ;
- (c) if, though made in the name of an existing person, it is made by him or by his authority with the intention that it should pass as having been made by some person, real or fictitious, other than the person who made or authorized it.

(3) For the purposes of this Ordinance—

- (a) It is immaterial in what language a document is expressed or in what place within or without His Majesty's dominions it is expressed to take effect ;
- (b) Forgery of a document may be complete even if the document when forged is incomplete, or is not or does not purport to be such a document as would be binding or sufficient in law ;
- (c) The crossing on any cheque, draft on a banker, post office money order, postal order, coupon, or other document the crossing of which is authorized or recognised by law, shall be a material part of such cheque, draft, order, coupon, or document.

Forgery of certain documents
with intent to defraud.

4.—(1) Forgery of the following documents, if committed with intent to defraud, shall be felony, and punishable with imprisonment for life, or for any term, with or without hard labour :—

- (a) Any will, codicil, or other testamentary document, either of a dead or of a living person, or any probate or letters of administration, whether with or without the will annexed ;
- (b) Any deed or bond, or any assignment at law or in equity of any deed or bond, or any attestation of the execution of any deed or bond ;
- (c) Any bank note, or any endorsement on or assignment of any bank note ;
- (d) Any currency note.

(2) Forgery of the following documents, if committed with intent to defraud, shall be felony, and punishable with imprisonment, with or without hard labour, for any term not exceeding fourteen years :—

- (a) Any valuable security or assignment thereof or endorsement thereon, or, where the valuable security is a bill of exchange, any acceptance thereof ;
- (b) Any document of title to lands or any assignment thereof or endorsement thereon ;
- (c) Any document of title to goods or any assignment thereof or endorsement thereon ;
- (d) Any power-of attorney or other authority to transfer any share or interest in any stock, annuity, or public fund of the United Kingdom or any part of His Majesty's dominions or of any foreign state or country, or to transfer any share or interest in the debt of any public body, company, or society, British or foreign, or in the capital stock of any such company or society, or to receive any dividend or money payable in respect of such share or interest, or any attestation of any such power of attorney or other authority ;
- (e) Any entry in any book or register which is evidence of the title of any person to any share or interest hereinbefore mentioned or to any dividend or interest payable in respect thereof ;
- (f) Any policy of insurance or any assignment thereof or endorsement thereon ;
- (g) Any charter-party or any assignment thereof.

5.—(1) Forgery of the following documents, if committed with intent to defraud or deceive, shall be felony, and punishable with imprisonment for life, or for any term, with or without hard labour :—

Forgery of certain documents with intent to defraud or deceive.

Any document whatsoever having thereupon or affixed thereto the stamp or impression of the Seal of the Colony, the Great Seal of the United Kingdom, His Majesty's Privy Seal, any privy

JOHN DE NOBRIGA,
Clerk of the Council.

OBJECTS AND REASONS.

In 1913 the law of England relating to Forgery and kindred offence was consolidated and simplified by the Forgery Act, 1913, (3 and 4 Geo. V. C. 27), and it is now proposed by this Bill to bring the law of the Colony on this subject into line with that in force in England.

The Bill is practically a copy of the English Act with such verbal amendments as are necessary to adopt to local circumstances, and with the addition of clause 6 which deals with the forgery of passports.
