Licences to be taken out by moneylenders. [6 of 1945 51/1980].

However, where moneylenders' licences are taken out by two or more moneylenders in respect of any address or addresses at which they carry on their business as partners in a firm, the Board of Inland Revenue shall remit, or if the duty has been paid, repay, to the firm a sum equal to the aggregate of the duties charged on such number of the licences taken out as exceeds the number of the addresses in respect of which they are taken out.

(2) Subject to this Act moneylenders' licences shall be in such form as the Board of Inland Revenue may direct, and shall be granted on payment of the appropriate duty by any officer authorised by the Board of Inland Revenue to grant them.

- (b) shall cause particulars of the conviction and of any order made by the Court to be endorsed on every certificate held by the person convicted or by any other person affected by the Order, and shall cause copies of those particulars to be sent to the authority by whom any certificate so endorsed was granted, and to the Board of Inland Revenue.

However, where by Order of a Court a certificate held by any person is suspended or forfeited, or any person is disqualified from obtaining a certificate, he may, whether or not he is the person convicted, appeal against the Order in the same manner as any person convicted may appeal against his conviction, and the Court may, if it thinks fit, pending the appeal, defer the operation of the Order.

(2) Any certificate required by a Court for endorsement in accordance with this section shall be produced, in such manner and within such time as may be directed by the Court, by the person by whom it is held, and any person who, without reasonable cause, makes default in producing any certificate so required, in respect of each offence, is liable to a fine of forty dollars for each day during which the default continues.

(3) Where a certificate held by any person is ordered to be suspended or to be forfeited under this section, any moneylender's licences granted to that person, whether in pursuance of that or any other certificate, shall be suspended during the period for which the certificate is ordered to be suspended or become void, as the case may be.

advertisements.

21. (1) No person shall knowingly send or deliver or cause to be sent or delivered to any person except in response to his written request any circular or other document advertising the name, address or telephone number of a moneylender, or containing an invitation—

(6) Where it is shown that a moneylending transaction was brought about by a contravention of any of the provisions of this section, the transaction shall, notwithstanding that the moneylender was duly licensed under this Act, be illegal, unless the moneylender proves that the contravention occurred without his consent and connivance.

22. (1) Where any debt in respect of money lent by a moneylender whether before or after the commencement of this Act or in respect of interest on any such debt or the benefit of any agreement made or security taken in respect of any such debt or interest is assigned to any assignee, the assignor (whether he is the moneylender by whom the money was lent or any person to whom the debt has been previously assigned) shall, before the assignment is made—

Application of Act as respects assignees.

23. (1) Subject as provided below, this Act shall continue to apply as respects any debt to a moneylender in respect of money lent by him after the commencement of this Act or in respect of interest on money so lent or of the benefit of any agreement made or security taken in respect of any such debt of interest, notwithstanding that the debt or the benefit of the agreement or security may have been assigned to any assignee, and, except where the context otherwise requires, references in this Act to a moneylender shall accordingly be construed as including any such assignee.

(2) Notwithstanding anything in this Act—

- (a) any agreement with, or security taken by, a moneylender in respect of money lent by him after the commencement of this Act shall be valid in favour of any bona fide assignee or holder for value without notice of any defect due to the operation of this Act and of any person deriving title under him; and security was affected by the operation of this Act, or by any person deriving title under him, but in every such case the moneylender shall be liable to indemnify the borrower or any person who is prejudiced by virtue of this section, and nothing in this subsection shall render valid an agreement or security in favour of, or apply to proceedings commenced by, an assignee or holder for value who is himself a moneylender.

(3) Nothing in this section shall render valid for any purpose any agreement, security or other transaction which would, apart from this Act, have been void or unenforceable.

24. (1) Where proceedings are taken in any Court by any person for the recovery of any money lent, or the enforcement of any agreement or security made or taken in respect of money lent, and there is evidence which satisfies the Court that the interest charged in respect of the sum actually lent exceeds the rates authorised by this Act, the Court may re-open the transaction, and take an account between the lender and the person sued, and may, notwithstanding any statement or settlement of account or any agreement purporting to close previous dealings and create a new obligation, re-open any account already taken between them, and relieve the person sued from payment of any sum in excess of the sum adjudged by the Court to be due in respect of such principal and interest, and for such costs and charges as the Court may adjudge to be reasonable, and, if any such excess has been paid or allowed in account by the debtor, may order the creditor to repay it; and may set aside, either wholly or in part, or revise, or alter, any security given or agreement made in respect of money lent, and if the lender has parted with the security may order him to indemnify the borrower or other person sued.

Re-opening of moneylending transactions.

(2) Any Court in which proceedings might be taken for the recovery of money lent by any person shall have power to and may, at the instance of the borrower or surety or other person liable, exercise the same powers as may be exercised under this section, where proceedings are taken for the recovery of money lent, and the Court shall have power, notwithstanding any provision or agreement to the contrary, to entertain any application under this Act by the borrower or surety or other person liable, notwithstanding that the time for repayment of the loan, or any instalment thereof, may not have arrived.

Inducing borrowing by false statements.

25. 26. (1) In any civil proceedings in which a borrower pleads any of the provisions of this Act (whether in any plaint, defence or other pleading, or in any affidavit or application for the purpose of obtaining leave to defend any action), if the Court is satisfied that the plea was not made in good faith, but was made for the purpose of delaying or harassing the moneylender, the Court may order the borrower to pay for the benefit of the moneylender a sum not exceeding two hundred dollars by way of compensation and the costs incurred by the moneylender in the proceeding to such an amount as shall be determined by the Court, and every such sum so ordered to be paid shall be added to the amount of the judgment recoverable by the moneylender.

SCHEDULE

Sections 11, 15, 21.

CALCULATION OF INTEREST WHERE THE INTEREST CHARGED ON A LOAN IS NOT EXPRESSED IN TERMS OF A RATE

1. The amount of principal outstanding at any time shall be taken to be the balance remaining after deducting from the principal the total of the portions of any payments appropriated to principal in accordance with the provisions of this Act.

2. Theseveral amounts taken to be outstanding by way of principal during the several periods ending on the dates on which payments are made shall be multiplied in each case by the number of calendar months during which those amounts are taken to be respectively outstanding, and there shall be ascertained the aggregate amount of the sum so produced.

3. The total amount of the interest shall be divided by one-twelfth part of the aggregate amount mentioned in paragraph 2, and the quotient, multiplied by one hundred, shall be taken to be the rate of interest per cent per annum.

4. If having regard to the intervals between successive payments it is desired to do so, the calculation of interest may be made by reference to weeks instead of months, and in such a case the foregoing paragraphs shall have effect as though in paragraph 2 the word "weeks" were substituted for the words "calendar months", and in paragraph 3 the words "one-fifty-second" were substituted for the words "one-twelfth".

5. Where any interval between successive payments is not a number of complete weeks or complete months, the foregoing paragraphs shall have effect as though one day were one-seventh part of a week or one-thirtieth part of a month, as the case may be.
