Commencement.

AN ORDINANCE RELATING TO LARCENY AND KINDRED OFFENCES
TRIABLE ON INDICTMENT.

[19th May, 1919.]

Short title.

1. This Ordinance may be cited as the Larceny Ordinance.

Interpretation.

2. (1) In this Ordinance—

“document of title to goods” includes any bill of lading, India warrant, dock warrant, warehouse-keeper’s certificate, warrant or order for the delivery or transfer of any goods or valuable thing, bought or sold note, or any other document used in the ordinary course of business as proof of the possession or control of goods, or authorising or purporting to authorise, either by endorsement or by delivery, the possessor of such document to transfer or receive any goods thereby represented or therein mentioned or referred to;

“document of title to lands” includes any Crown grant, certificate of title, instrument, deed, map, roll, register, paper, or parchment, written or printed, or partly written and partly printed, being or containing evidence of the title, or any part of the title, to any real estate or to any interest in or out of any real estate;

“mail,” “mail bag,” “officer of the post office,” “postal packet,” “post office,” and “in course of transmission by post,” shall have the same meanings in this Ordinance as in the Post Office Ordinance;

“night” means the interval between eight o’clock in the evening and five o’clock in the morning of the next succeeding day;

“property” includes any description of real and personal property, money, debts, and legacies, and all deeds and instruments relating to or evidencing the title or right to any property, or giving a right to recover or receive any money or goods, and also includes not only such property as has been originally in the possession or under the control of any person, but also any property into or for which the same has been converted or exchanged, and anything acquired by such conversion or exchange, whether immediately or otherwise;

“trustee” means a trustee on some express trust created by some deed, will, or instrument in writing, and includes the heir or personal representative of any such trustee, and any other person upon or to whom the duty of such trust shall have devolved or come, and also an executor and administrator, and an Official Receiver, assignee, liquidator, or other like officer acting under any present or future Ordinance relating to companies or bankruptcy;

“valuable security” includes any writing entitling or evidencing the title of any person to any share or interest in any public stock, annuity, fund, or debt of any part of His Majesty’s dominions, or of any foreign state, or in any stock, annuity, fund, or debt of any body corporate, company, or society, whether within or without His Majesty’s dominions, or to any deposit in any bank, and also includes any scrip, debenture, bill, note, warrant, order, or other security for payment of money, or any accountable receipt, release, or discharge, or any receipt or other instrument evidencing the payment of money, or the delivery of any chattel personal, and any document of title to lands or goods as hereinbefore defined.

(2) The expression “dwelling-house” does not include a building although within the same curtilage with any dwelling-house and occupied therewith unless there is a communication between such building and dwelling-house, either immediate or by means of a covered and enclosed passage leading from one to the other.

3. For the purposes of this Ordinance—

(1) a person steals who, without the consent of the owner, fraudulently and without a claim of right made in good faith, takes and carries away anything capable of being stolen, with intent, at the time of such taking, permanently to deprive the owner thereof:

Definitions.

Provided that a person may be guilty of stealing any such thing notwithstanding that he has lawful possession thereof, if, being a bailee or part-owner thereof, he fraudulently converts the same to his own use or the use of any person other than the owner;

“Takes.”

(2) (i) the expression “takes” includes obtaining the possession—

(a) by any trick;

Postal packets.

(3) Every such person may be indicted and convicted, whether the principal offender has or has not been previously convicted, or is or is not amenable to justice.

(4) Every person who, without lawful excuse, knowing the same to have been stolen or obtained in any way whatsoever under such circumstances that if the act had been committed in the Colony the person committing it would have been guilty of felony or misdemeanor, receives or has in his possession any property so stolen or obtained outside the Colony, shall be guilty of an offence of the like degree (whether felony or misdemeanor) and liable to imprisonment for seven years.

Receiving goods stolen outside Colony.

Corruptly taking a reward.

35. Every person who corruptly takes any money or reward, directly or indirectly, under pretence or upon account of helping any person to recover any property which has, under circumstances which amount to felony or misdemeanor, been stolen or obtained in any way whatsoever, or received, shall (unless he has used all due diligence to cause the offender to be brought to trial for the same) be guilty of felony and liable to imprisonment for seven years.

Accessories and abettors.

36. Every person who knowingly and wilfully aids, abets, counsels, procures, or commands the commission of an offence punishable under this Ordinance shall be liable to be dealt with, indicted, tried, and punished as a principal offender.

Husband and wife.
Ord. 25-1936,
s. 10.

37. (1) A wife shall have the same remedies and redress under this Ordinance for the protection and security of her own property as if she were a feme sole:

Provided that no proceedings under this Ordinance shall be taken by any wife against her husband while they are living together as to or concerning any property claimed by her, nor while they are living apart as to or concerning any act done by the husband while they were living together concerning property claimed by the wife, unless such property has been wrongfully taken by the husband when leaving or deserting or about to leave or desert his wife.

(2) A wife doing an act with respect to any property of her husband, which, if done by the husband in respect to property of the wife, would make the husband liable to criminal proceedings by the wife under this Ordinance, shall be in like manner liable to criminal proceedings by her husband.

Punishments.

38. (1) Every person who commits the offence of simple larceny after having been previously convicted of felony shall be liable to imprisonment for ten years.

Simple larceny.

(2) Every person who commits the offence of simple larceny, or any offence made punishable like simple larceny, after having been previously convicted—

(a) of any misdemeanor punishable under this Ordinance, or

(b) twice summarily of larceny or damage to property, shall be liable to imprisonment for seven years.

(3) On conviction of a misdemeanor punishable under this Ordinance, the court instead of or in addition to any other punishment which may be lawfully imposed, may fine the offender.

Fine.

(4) On conviction of a felony or misdemeanor punishable under this Ordinance, the court, instead of or in addition to any other punishment which may lawfully be imposed for the offence, may require the offender to enter into his own recognizances, with or without sureties, for keeping the peace and being of good behaviour: Provided that a person shall not be imprisoned for more than one year for not finding sureties.

Recognizances.
Ord. 14-1939,
s. 7.

39. (1) An allegation in an indictment that money or bank notes have been embezzled or obtained by false pretences can, so far as regards the description of the property, be sustained by proof that the offender embezzled or obtained any piece of coin or any bank note or any portion of the value thereof, although such piece of coin or bank note may have been delivered to him in order that some part of the value thereof should be returned to any person and such part has been returned accordingly.

Proof.

(2) In an indictment for receiving any property under this Ordinance, any number of persons who have at different times so received such property or any part thereof may be charged and tried together.

Trial of persons together.

(3) If any person who is a member of any co-partnership, or is one of two or more beneficial owners of any property, steals or embezzles any such property of or belonging to such co-partnership or to such beneficial owners, he shall be liable to be dealt with, tried, and punished as if he had not been or was not a member of the co-partnership or one of such beneficial owners.

Co-partnership property.

40. (1) Any person found committing any offence punishable under this Ordinance, except an offence under section 32, may be immediately apprehended without a warrant by any person and forthwith taken, together with the property, if any, before a Magistrate or Justice to be dealt with according to law.

that any offence has been committed against this Ordinance with respect to such property, shall, if in his power, apprehend and forthwith take before a Magistrate or Justice the person offering the same, together with such property, to be dealt with according to law.

(3) Any constable may take into custody without warrant any person whom he finds lying or loitering in any highway, yard, or other place during the night, and whom he has good cause to suspect of having committed or being about to commit any felony in this Ordinance mentioned, and shall take such persons as soon as reasonably may be before a Magistrate or Justice to be dealt with according to law.

Search warrants.

41. (1) If it is made to appear by information on oath before a Magistrate or Justice that there is reasonable cause to believe that any person has in his custody or possession or on his premises any property whatsoever, with respect to which any offence against this Ordinance has been committed, such Magistrate or Justice may grant a warrant to search for and seize the same.

Ord. 14-1939,
1st Sch.

(2) (a) Any constable may, if authorised in writing by a chief officer of Police, enter any house, shop, warehouse, yard, or other premises, and search for and seize any property he believes to have been stolen, and, where any property is seized in pursuance of this section, the person on whose premises it was at the time of seizure or the person from whom it was taken shall, unless previously charged with receiving the same knowing it to have been stolen, be summoned before a Magistrate to account for his possession of such property, and such Magistrate shall make such order respecting the disposal of such property and may award such costs as the justice of the case may require.

(b) It shall be lawful for any chief officer of Police to give such authority as aforesaid—

(i) when the premises to be searched are or within the preceding twelve months have been in the occupation of any person who has been convicted of receiving stolen property or of harbouring thieves; or

(ii) when the premises to be searched are in the occupation of any person who has been convicted of any offence involving fraud or dishonesty and punishable with imprisonment.

(c) It shall not be necessary for such chief officer of Police on giving such authority to specify any particular property, but he may give such authority if he has reason to believe generally that such premises are being made a receptacle for stolen goods.

(3) In this section "chief officer of Police" means the Commissioner of Police or other officer having the chief command in any Police District.

42. (1) Whenever any person is being proceeded against for receiving any property knowing it to have been stolen, or for having in his possession stolen property, for the purpose of proving guilty knowledge there may be given in evidence at any stage of the proceedings— Evidence.

(a) the fact that other property stolen within the period of twelve months preceding the date of the offence charged was found or had been in his possession;

(b) the fact that within the five years preceding the date of the offence charged he was convicted of any offence involving fraud or dishonesty:

This last-mentioned fact may not be proved unless—

(i) seven days' notice in writing has been given to the offender that proof of such previous conviction is intended to be given;

(ii) evidence has been given that the property in respect of which the offender is being tried was found or had been in his possession.

(2) No person shall be liable to be convicted of any offence against sections 8, 9 paragraph (a), 21, 22, and 23 upon any evidence whatever in respect of any act done by him, if at any time previously to his being charged with such offence he has first disclosed such act on oath, in consequence of any compulsory process of any court of law or equity in any action, suit, or proceeding which has been bonâ fide instituted by any person aggrieved. Compulsory disclosure in civil action.

(3) In any proceedings in respect of any offence against sections 8, 9 paragraph (a), 21, 22, and 23, a statement or admission made by any person in any compulsory examination or deposition before any court on the hearing of any matter in bankruptcy shall not be admissible in evidence against that person. Compulsory disclosure in bankruptcy.

Verdict of assault on charge of robbery.

43. (1) If, on the trial of any indictment for robbery, it is proved that the defendant committed an assault with intent to rob, the jury may acquit the defendant of robbery and find him guilty of an assault with intent to rob, and thereupon he shall be liable to be punished accordingly.

Verdict of stealing on charge of embezzlement, and vice versa.

(2) If, on the trial of any indictment for any offence against section 18 (relating to embezzlement), it is proved that the defendant stole the property in question, the jury may find him guilty of stealing, and thereupon he shall be liable to be punished accordingly; and on the trial of any indictment for stealing, the jury may in like manner find the defendant guilty of embezzlement or of fraudulent application or disposition, as the case may be, and thereupon he shall be liable to be punished accordingly.

Verdict of obtaining by false pretences on charge of stealing.

(3) If, on the trial of any indictment for stealing, it is proved that the defendant took any chattel, money, or valuable security in question in any such manner as would amount in law to obtaining it by false pretences with intent to defraud, the jury may acquit the defendant of stealing and find him guilty of obtaining the chattel, money, or valuable security by false pretences, and thereupon he shall be liable to be punished accordingly.

Verdict of stealing on charge of false pretences.

(4) If, on the trial of any indictment for obtaining any chattel, money, or valuable security by false pretences, it is proved that the defendant stole the property in question, he shall not by reason thereof be entitled to be acquitted of obtaining such property by false pretences.

(5) If, on the trial of any two or more persons indicted for jointly receiving any property, it is proved that one or more of such persons separately received any part of such property, the jury may convict upon such indictment such of the said persons as are proved to have received any part of such property.

Restitution.

44. (1) If any person guilty of any such felony or misdemeanor as is mentioned in this Ordinance, in stealing, taking, obtaining, extorting, embezzling, converting, or disposing of, or in knowingly receiving, any property, is prosecuted to conviction by or on behalf of the owner of such property, the property shall be restored to the owner or his representative.

(2) In every case in this section referred to, the Court before whom such offender is convicted shall have power to award from time to time writs of restitution for the said property or to order the restitution thereof in a summary manner:

Writ of restitution.

Provided that where goods as defined in the Sale of Goods Ordinance have been obtained by fraud or other wrongful means not amounting to stealing, the property in such goods shall not re-vest in the person who was the owner of the goods or his personal representative, by reason only of the conviction of the offender:

Provided also that nothing in this section shall apply to the case of—

(a) any valuable security which has been in good faith paid or discharged by some person or body corporate liable to the payment thereof, or, being a negotiable instrument, has been in good faith taken or received by transfer or delivery by some person or body corporate for a just and valuable consideration without any notice or without any reasonable cause to suspect that the same had been stolen;

(b) any offence against sections 21, 22, and 23.

(3) On the restitution of any stolen property, if it appears to the court by the evidence that the offender has sold the stolen property to any person, and that such person has had no knowledge that the same was stolen, and that any moneys have been taken from the offender on his apprehension, the court may, on the application of such purchaser, order that out of such moneys a sum not exceeding the amount of the proceeds of such sale be delivered to the said purchaser.
