“quota period” means any period in respect of which any quota has been fixed by an Order made under this Act;

“sugar” includes sugar in any of its commercial forms except the product sold as final molasses.

The Minister may by Order fix quotas for the manufacture and disposal of sugar.

(a) to export;

(b) to sell or deliver for consumption within Trinidad and Tobago, during any quota period specified in the Order, and prescribe the conditions under which the permission shall be granted.

(2) The quota* Order formerly contained in the Schedule, hereinafter referred to in this section as the original Order, shall be in force until varied by an Order made under subsection (1).

*See Schedule to Ordinance No. 12–1937.

(3) In any variation of the original Order the increase or decrease in the export quota allotted to each sugar manufacturer shall bear to that allotted to him under the original Order the same ratio as the total quantity of sugar permitted to be exported by all sugar manufacturers under such varied Order bears to the total amount permitted to be exported by all sugar manufacturers under the original Order.

(4) No sugar manufacturer shall be required to accept any additional export quota or part thereof that may be allotted to him.

(5) If any sugar manufacturer does not accept any of the additional export quota that may be allotted to him, the additional export quota or part thereof shall be divided amongst the other sugar manufacturers in the same proportion that the export quota allotted to each sugar manufacturer under the original Order bears to the total export quota allotted to all sugar manufacturers under the original Order.
